Great buildings are built by great people. That's the mantra that's driven Penalta Group since day one, and it's the foundation that we've used to build our story of success.

Ask anyone in the hotel construction business who has had the opportunity to collaborate with Penalta. Ask anyone in the retail or industrial sectors who has enjoyed a successful project with our experienced team. They'll tell you that what makes Penalta memorable isn't just our hassle-free project management or our ability to tailor schemes to meet their demands and expectations – it's the experience of working with our teams of highly-trained, 'attention-to-detail' focused staff who truly care about helping our customers to write their own success stories.

Read on to find out where Penalta's knack for quality construction comes from, the areas we're working in today and our vision for the future...

OUR HISTORY

Over a 25 year span, two partners made a commitment to developing one of Canada's leading construction delivery businesses. They founded a construction company based on their contracting expertise and vision for a better way of building.

Over time, the partners formed an organisation with the unique skill set it takes to understand the commercial construction industry, growing a team with a straight-talking and highly professional approach that delighted customers and ensured referrals and repeat work from existing customers.

As the company has grown, so have its four core values: build a great team; treat customers fairly; value safety above all else; and make sure the building's end goals are at the forefront of every stage of planning.

THE FUTURE

Our growth is always going to be organic, expanding when it's right to do so by appointing the best new people to our business and working with clients who want a contractor that offers a personal approach.

We work in the commercial (including hotel), industrial and retail markets and we feel these sectors are important to the infrastructure of Canada.

One thing we're going to continue to focus on 100% into the future is SAFETY. Our people are more important than any other aspect of our business and we respect their right to work in a safe environment.

We will continue to educate our staff, subcontractors and suppliers through organized training programs and seminars to maintain a consistently safe work environment.

We take pride in our disciplined approach and our stringent safety standards and these apply equally to our treatment of other contractors on site and even the passing public.
